

You Will Conquer!

Do you ever get discouraged
As you walk the path of life
When it seems each day much steeper
And more filled with pain and strife?

Are you ever disappointed
In the friends who let you down?
Those you thought would stand beside you
Pass you by with chilling frown.

Don't give up because the battle
That you're waging day by day
For the right seems worse than useless –
Just remember, it will pay!

Look to Jesus, He will help you
In the fearsome fight at hand;
You will find it even pleasant;
You will conquer, you will stand!

© Edmund E. Wells 1/16/72
in Bulletin Poetry